

Joseph Berry

Founder & CEO
JBJ ADVISORS

Joseph Berry is the Founder and CEO of JBJ Advisors; a consulting company working with automotive OEMs, wireless carriers, and application providers. Mr. Berry is an accomplished and innovative executive with over 25 years of helping start-up, mid-sized, and large corporations undergoing significant market transformation or looking to enter new markets.

Mr. Berry's career began with AT&T working with state of the art information and telecommunication systems and Software development, developing highly sophisticated emergency systems such as Enhanced-911 and Security Link. His accomplishments have earned him patents and awards including an International Engineering Consortium's Info-vision award.

Mr. Berry has worked in all aspects of business from technical development, to business and product development, and sales Vice President. His vast and unique professional experience has been crucial in helping companies break out of the pack and take lead in their industries.

He has been creating innovative product, services, and business models for companies for the last ten years. Berry has helped many companies launch first in market solutions helping create opportunities and market share for his clients. One of his more recent responsibilities was working with Ford Motor Company and serving as the chief architect for SYNC.

